DIED:—At the home of her brother George Munger in this county on Saturday the 25, Miss Lulu B. Munger, aged 31 years, of consumption. Her remains were taken to New Cumberland, Pennsylvania, for interment.

 If some of our county officers and aspirants for political glory would follow the Irishman's command, "Jiststep out here and look at yourself," they would blush for shame and pray that the earth would open up and swallow them, that they might hide from the blackness of their deeds.
 The time draws near when several people will find to their sorrow that their neighbors and friends do not think it expedient for them to sacrifice themselves on the "altar of public good," and by their ballots will say "we are done with ring rule in politics."
 "We can win without a gun—democratic vote," and have high expressions from the chief moguls in the Republican faction have a tendency to put the Democrats in a specially good humor. But then there is no danger of a good Democrat voting wrong.
 The ladies of the Congregational church will serve supper on election day, November 7th, in the Pledge building. A good square meal for 25 cents. The proceeds will go to the literary fund of the Sunday school. Go dine with the ladies and lend your aid in maintaining a good library.
 To-morrow afternoon Adam Gottheuer will discuss the issues of this campaign from the farmers' alliance standpoint. If the pronunciation of his name gives you the lock-jaw, do not get scared, for he promises to untangle your intellect in regard to a few things you don't understand. His address will be delivered in German and will commence at two o'clock. In the evening, O. D. Jones, candidate for associate justice of the Missouri supreme court will speak in the opera house.
 The Hamlin Wizard Oil Company have been holding forth every night this week. They give a novelty sort of entertainment and have good houses everything but from except the Oil which maintains the uniform price of one dollar a bottle in the original package. With every bottle they sell they give a ticket which entitles the holder to a chance in drawing a valuable present of silverware, and is quite a drawing card in their business. The Oil company carries nearly everything with the exception of the crane to cut in something for nothing.
 It is a difficult thing to carry water on both shoulders at the same time. If a man is nominated for the state legislature on a prohibition platform, such as the platform adopted at the late Republican state convention, and endorsed in the Republican county convention of this county; and then comes out and says he is for non-substantiation he is evidently playing a part to catch votes. He is a demagogue of the worst type, and should be set down on so to speak, and looked upon by the voters of this county as a man unworthy of the confidence of his neighbors and fellow townsmen. The fact that we have such a candidate in this county is enough for all to know. He is a man unworthy of their support, and on election day show him by their strict fidelity to home and principle that they do not want and will not countenance in the legislature from their county. The old adage "a man should be a man, or a mouse, or a long tailed rat" has certainly been taught in this political scheme, and he has concluded to be a "long tailed rat".
 The circumstances were such, and announcements made so late in the evening that it was only a small crowd that gathered. Hon. H. M. Bickie and Hon. Joseph Dillon, candidate for Auditor of State, at the court house Tuesday evening. But the interest manifested by the listeners in hearing good old Democracy expounded was very great and made those in attendance feel good to hear the truth for once during the campaign. Mr. Bickie spoke at some length, giving a brief, explicit history of the parties from the very beginning to the present time. The Republicans in scrutinizing the situation were looking through a long tube and prior to 1890 they could see nothing and from 1890 it was all darkness and they were blindly pandering to the passions of the people.
 Upon the state issues the speaker took a bold stand and takes the view in regard to the liquor traffic that is the only honest, moral, temperate and liberty loving people. He also showed the hypocrisy of our chief executive in doing the straddling act and attempting to ride two horses on a return trip to the throne, and the true situation that our people are now in as the present law is impracticable. After the speech by Mr. Bickie, Mr. Dillon, a plain outspoken Irishman, occupied the attention of the audience for a few moments, and the meeting adjourned.
 Prepare to feast your eyes on things of beauty and joy forever when our Xmas staff arrives. Roberts Bros.

A statement.
 We publish below a statement from the former townsmen of Mr. Daniel G. Donovan, the people's candidate for representative. About the time Mr. Donovan received the nomination some member of the "ring" started the report that Mr. Donovan bore an unsavory reputation among his old neighbors in Delaware county, Ohio. How generally this report may have been circulated, or how extensively it may be used in election day by the hired henchmen and lackeys of the "ring," is only a matter of conjecture. In order to correct the report that has already been circulated and to forestall what may be said hereafter by twenty-six respectable citizens of Delaware county. The original document can be seen in the GRAPHIC office by any of our all persons who desire to examine it.
 DELAWARE COUNTY, OHIO.
 October 15, 1909.
 To whom it may concern: We, whose names are hereto appended, certify that we were well and intimately acquainted with Daniel G. Donovan during the fifteen years that he resided in Thompson township, Delaware county, Ohio, and we take pleasure in recommending him to his fellow citizens of Delaware county, Kansas, as a man of integrity and honor. While he resided in our midst he was regarded and esteemed as a good neighbor, a man of strict honesty and integrity in his business affairs and a gentleman in his social relations; in a word, a citizen who had the respect and esteem of the entire community. He was a working man and a progressive farmer, such one as is a desirable acquaintance to any farming community.
 We also believe that should Mr. Donovan's fellow citizens of Edwards county, Kansas, honor him by selecting him to represent them in the State Legislature of his adopted state, or to any other public station, that he would discharge the duties thereby devolving upon him, honestly, conscientiously and to the best of his ability in the interest of his constituents. All of which is respectfully submitted.
 Jno. A. CORSE, Atty & J. of P.
 And twenty-five others.
 The old reliable Edwards County Bank has gone under. The failure is a great misfortune to the county and surrounding country. During the years 1885 and 86 when the country was settling rapidly there was a large demand for money and the bank turned liberally to farmers and traders, and owing to the crop failures of 1887 and 88 customers could not meet their obligations to the bank without a waste of full sacrifice. Money was plenty east, the bank's credit good, and being anxious to help the people and build up the country the bank people pledged their customers and made still further loans. But many of these customers failed, and thereby devolving upon the bank the general depreciation of value in farm products and stock, and western creditors becoming embittered in their demands of the bank to meet its obligations with them, the bank found it impossible to do so, and hence closed its doors on the 23. F. W. Edmonds was appointed receiver and has not as yet completed his schedule of assets and liabilities, but he believes with a conservative administration of the estate, depositors will lose nothing. L. O. Bours, the cashier, has the sympathy of the entire community.
